

Master of Science in Criminal Justice

Program (Student) Outcomes: What Will I Learn?

1. Integrate the evolution of important criminological theories with the development of contemporary criminal justice (CJ) policy.
2. Critique the criminal justice system including the legal, theoretical and public policy issues that impact it.
3. Compare and contrast contemporary CJ issues through the application of current theories and literature as they impact the American CJ system.
4. Construct and evaluate research designs and methods that evaluate agency programs, or investigate empirical or theoretical issues relating to criminal justice.
5. Articulate knowledge and appreciation for diversity (including, but not limited to, race, culture, ethnicity, gender, religion) and its effects within the context of the criminal justices system.
6. Analyze and evaluate contemporary homeland security issues as they relate to criminal justice based on an understanding of the domestic and international processes affecting homeland security.
7. Construct an argument for the relationship between current theories of emergency management and their practical application within the American criminal justice system.

This program began enrolling students in 2011 and does not have sufficient results to present outcomes data at the program level. Data represented on this site includes information on programs that have been in existence longer than 3 years, and have available direct and indirect learning outcomes data on at least 20 students, or unless otherwise specified by specialized accreditation to require reporting of all results less than  $n = 20$ .